

Augurium Rōmulī Remīque

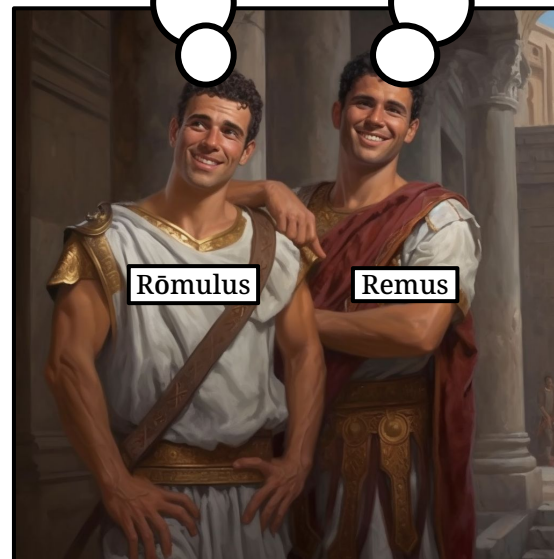

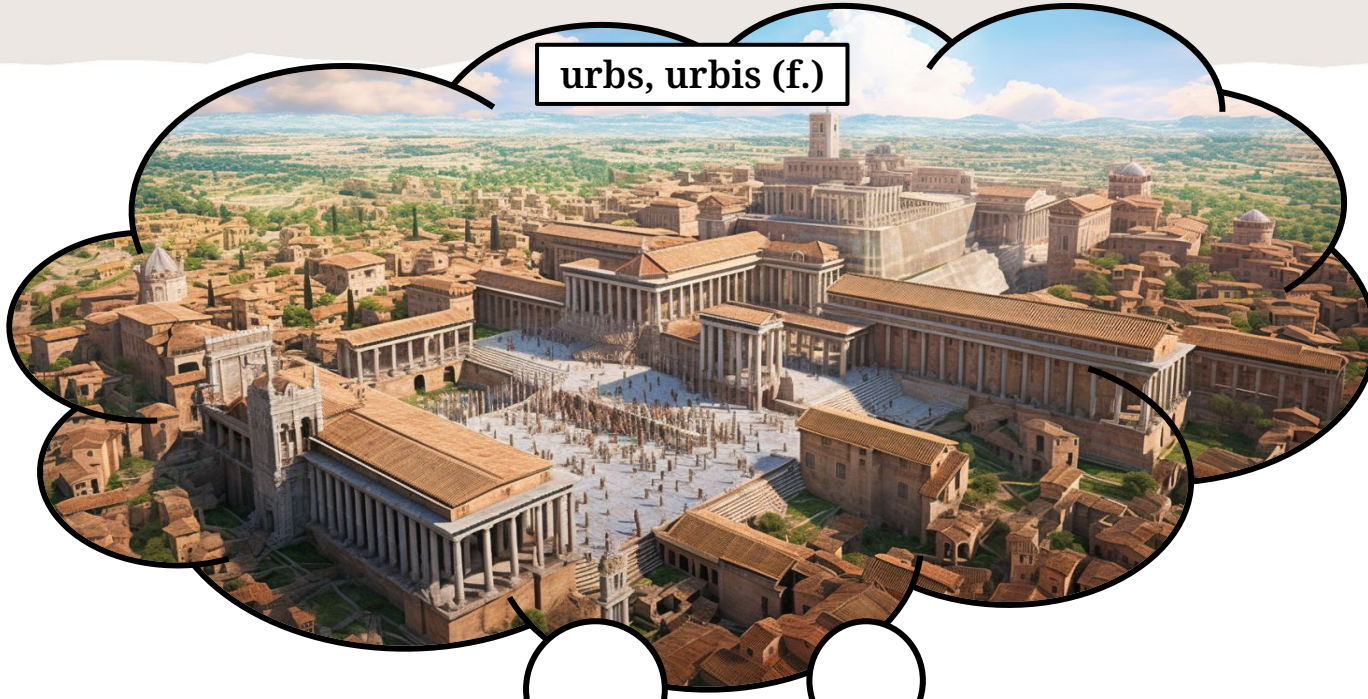

lēctiō dēstināta tīrōnibus

Salvēte, amīcī!
Nōmen mihi est
“Torvus” corvus.

Rōmulus et Remus sunt frātrēs. Novam urbem aedificāre volunt.

urbs, urbis (f.)

Nova urbs?

Cotīdiē Rōmulus et Remus labōrant. Novam urbem aedificant.

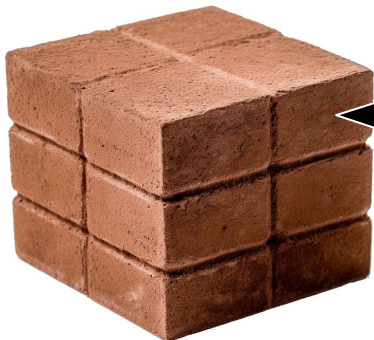

vir ascendit
scālam

scāla, -ae (f.)

Possum
adiuvāre!

Hominēs mūrū magnīs lateribus aedificant.

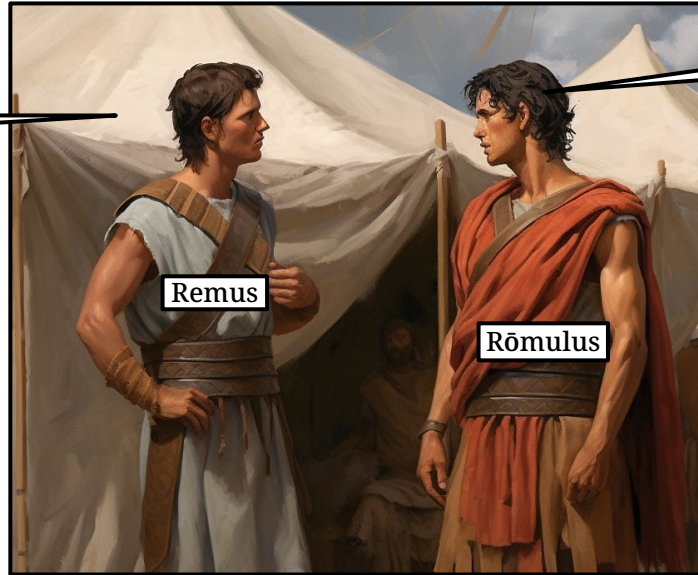

later, lateris (m.)

mūrus, -ī (m.)

Sed quis erit rēx novae urbis? Rōmulus an Remus?

Ego rēx erō!

Remus

Rōmulus

Minimē! Ego rēx erō!

scēptrum, -ī (n.)

rēx, rēgis (m.)

Rēx scēptrum in manū tenet.

corōna, -ae (f.)

thronus, -ī (m.)

rēgīna, -ae (f.)

Rēgīna in thronō sedet.

Est magna rixa
inter Remum et Rōmulum!

Rōmulus et Remus sunt geminī. Quis est maior nātū?

Sum maior nātū
quam soror mea.

Sum minor nātū
quam soror mea.

gemmae

Sum minor nātū
quam frāter meus.

Sum maior nātū
quam frāter meus.

geminī

Sumusne
geminī?

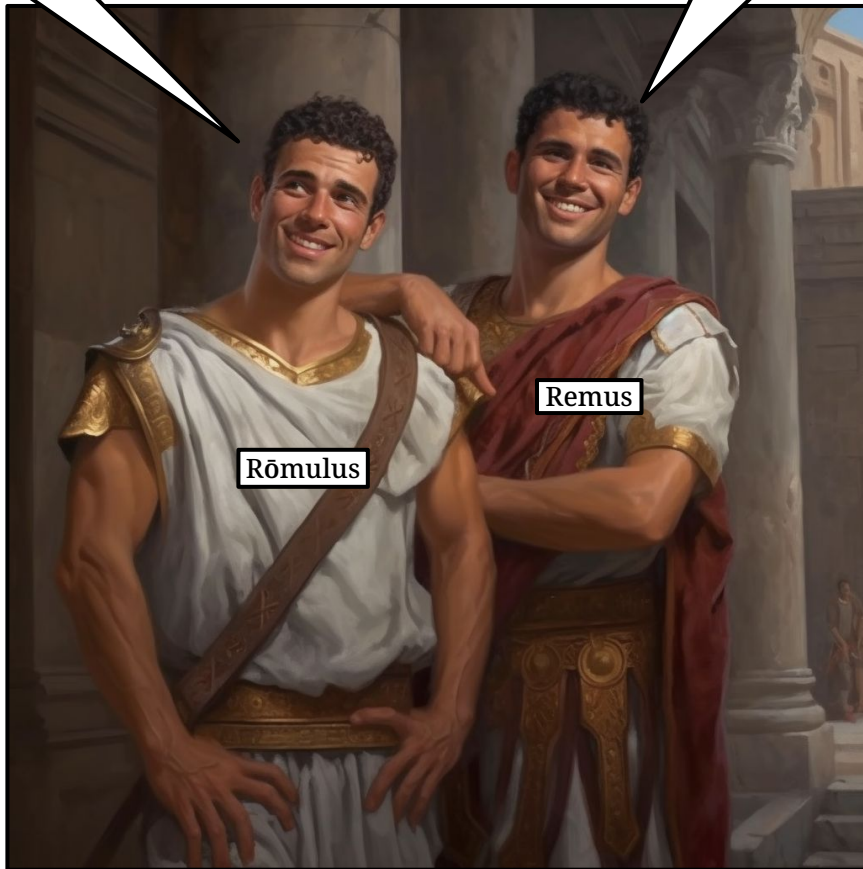

Nesciō.

Estne Rōmulus maior nātū? Estne Remus maior nātū?

Nesciō!

Nescīmus!

Mystērium
est!

Subitō, cōnsilium habent! Augurium! Sed quid est augurium?

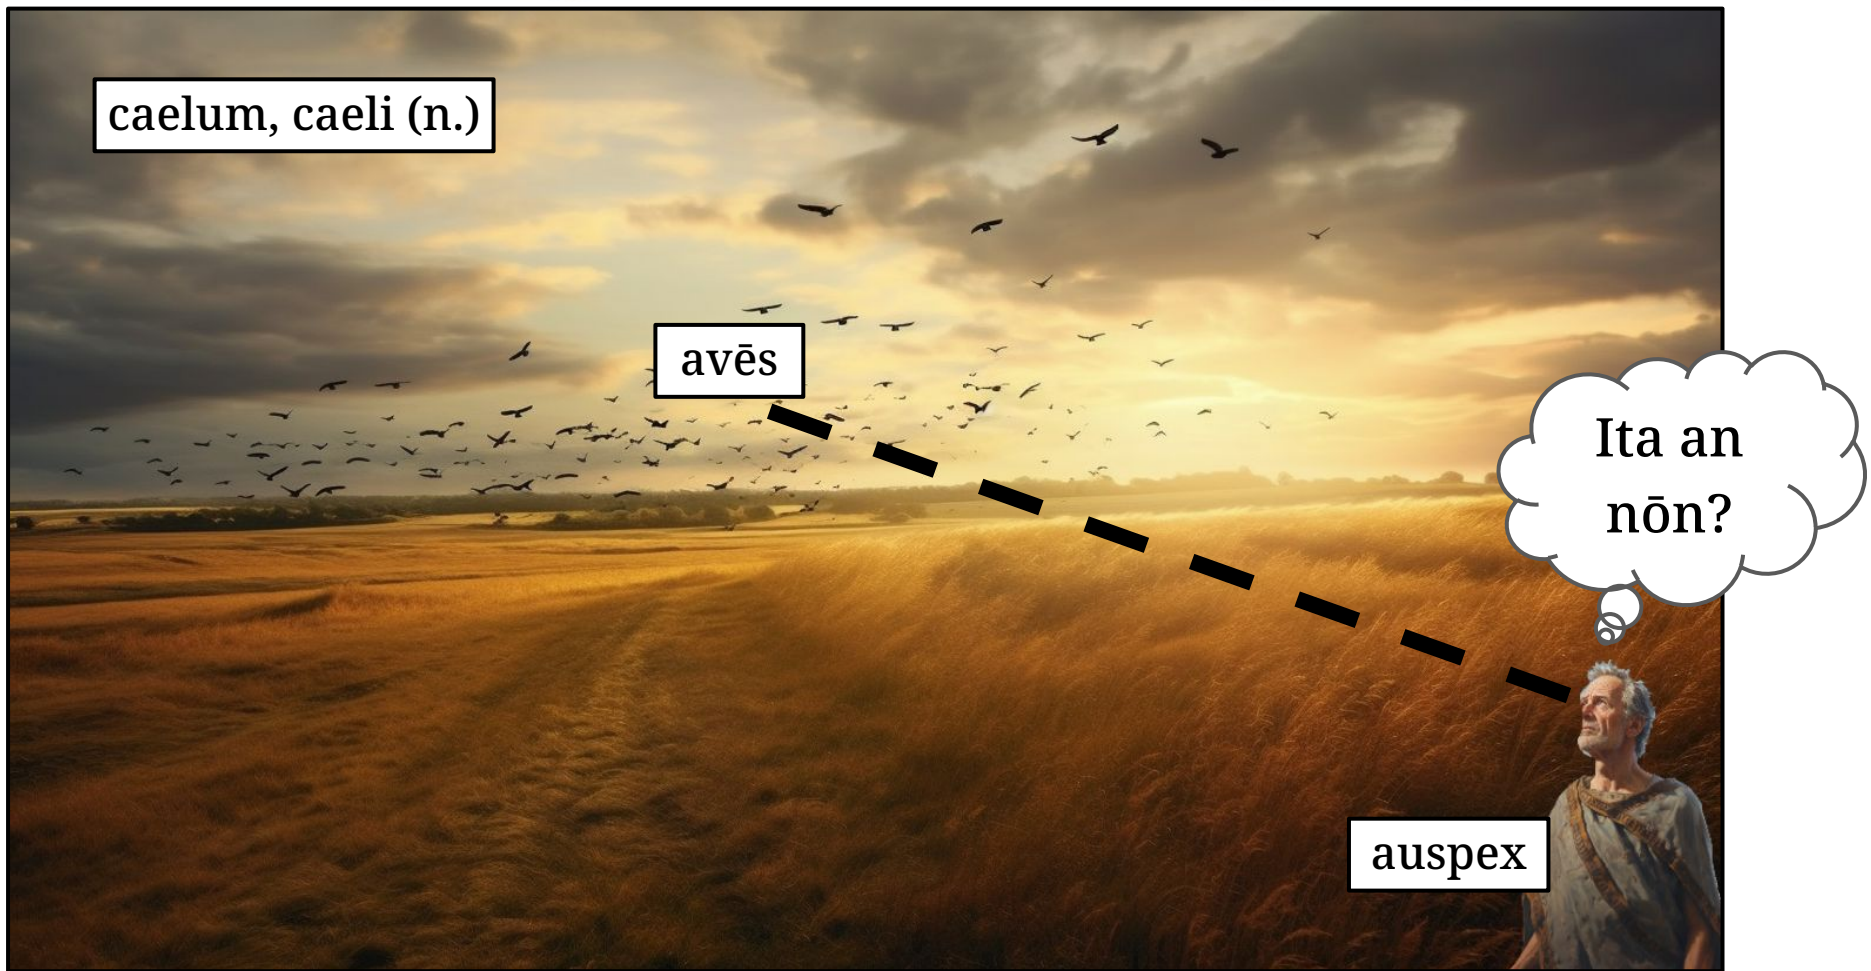

Augurium!

Cōnsilium bonum!

Augurium est ubi auspex spectat caelum et avēs. Per avēs, dī Rōmānī signum dant: “ita” aut “nōn.”

ūna avis

duae avēs

trēs avēs

Sōlus
fungor
melius.

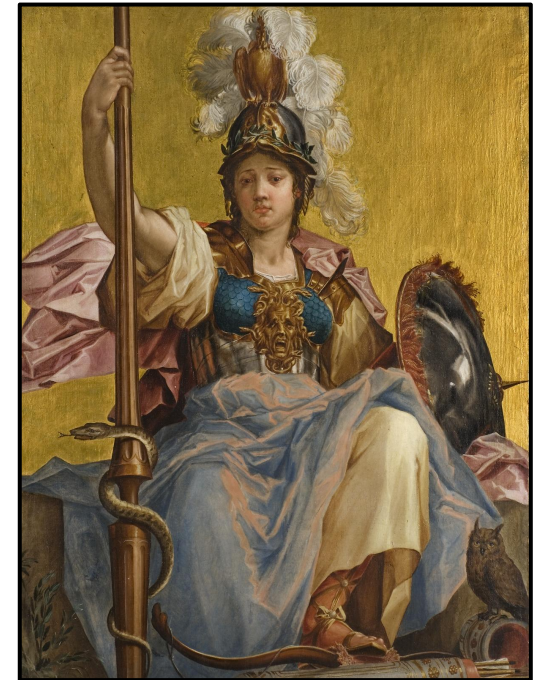

dī Rōmānī

Mercurius est nūntius
deōrum.

Iūpiter est rēx
deōrum.

Minerva est dea
sapientiae.

Iūnō est rēgīna deōrum.

Sunt multae avēs in hāc pāginā.
Gallus, pāvō, aquila, bŭbō, et corvus.
Pōtēsne omnēs avēs invenīre?

Nunc cōnsilium habent. Mox, Rōmulus et Remus spectābunt avēs. Sed ubi erit augurium?

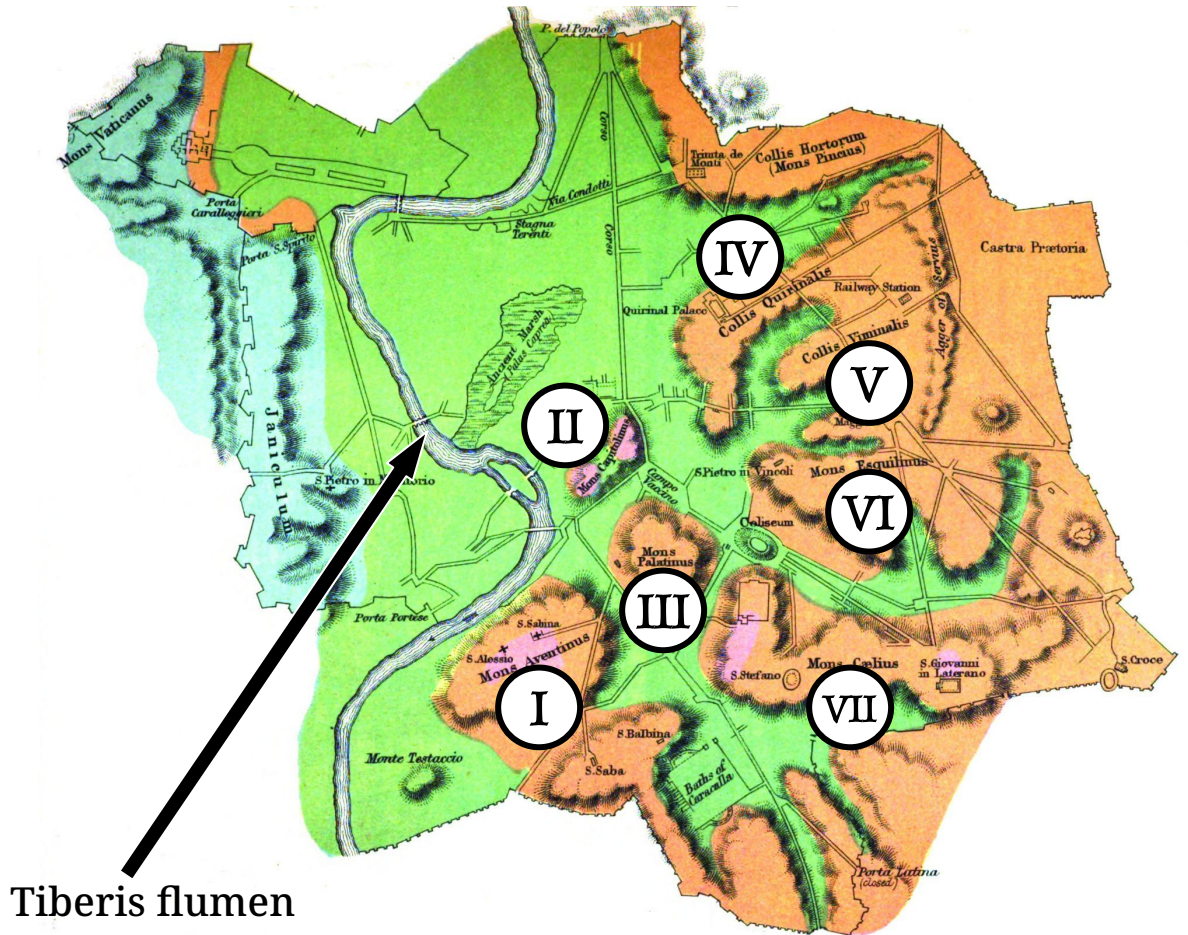

Urbs habet septem collēs vel montēs.

collis, -is (m.)

mōns, montis (m.)

Tiberis flumen

Quid est discrīmen inter collem et montem?

Rōmulus et Remus collēs ēligunt.

Tiberis flumen

Ego Montem Aventinum ēligō.

Ego hunc postem ēligō!

Ego Montem Palatinum ēligō.

Remus

Rōmulus

Primum Remus avēs videt, ante Rōmulum. Amīcī
Rēmī sunt laetī!

Rēmus est
rēx!

Ecce rēx
urbis!

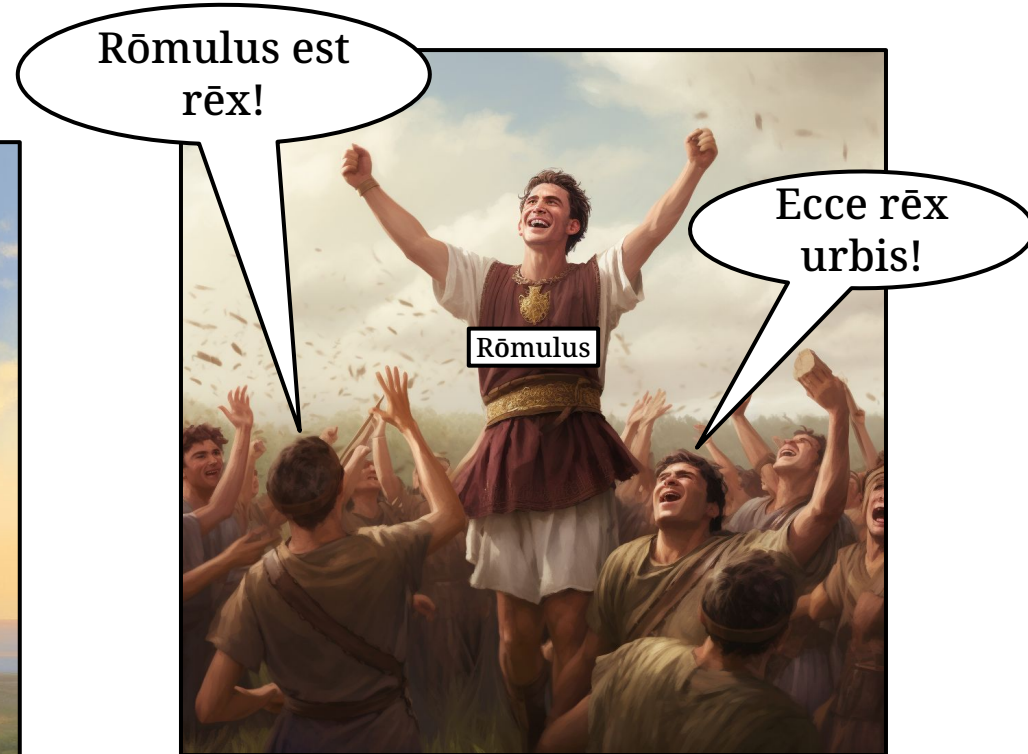

Ūna, duae, trēs,
quattor, quīnque,
sex. Sex avēs!

Septem, sī mē
numerās.

Deinde, Rōmulus vīdet duodecim avēs! Amīcī Rōmulī sunt laetī!

Quis habēbit thronum? Rōmulus an Remus?

Rēx erō quod primum
ego avēs vīdī, ante tē.

Sed pacuās avēs vīdistī.
Ego vīdī multās avēs.
Ego rēx erō!

Augurium erat
cōnsilium malum!

Est magna rixa inter Rōmulum et Remum. Rōmulus et Remus sunt īrātī! Gladiīs pignant!

Ego ipse
rēx erō!

Ego erō
rēx!

Nōn possum
spectāre!

Rōmulus interficit Remum. Rēmus in sepulcrō sepelītur.

sepulcrum -ī (n.)

Ēheu! Rēmus
interficitur ā Rōmulō.

Nunc Rōmulus est rēx novae urbis. Rōmulus nōmen “Rōma” urbī dat.

Rōmulus

Valēte omnēs!
